The above is the substance, if not the exact language of the pledge which will be printed at the bottom of the ticket to be voted here next Tuesday, in the Demo cratic primary to nominate a candidate for United States Senate and the Stat

The plan has already been drawn by

The plan has already been drawn by the sub-committee, and has been practically adopted by the full committee, though some matters were left open until the next meeting, which will be held to-morrow night.

The pledge is to all intents and purposes the one used in the recent local grimary, and is not materially different from those adopted for many years in the city. There has been much discussion on the outside regarding the question of a pledge, but it may be fairly stated that it has long been the custom of the committee to place a pledge on the tickets used in all primaries in the city.

Wherein It Differs.

Wherein It Differs.

Wherein It Differs.

The new language, which, by the way, was used in the last primary for the first time is that which says "affirms his democracy." The pledge has always sought to bind the person voting the ticket to support the nominees in the next ensuing general election.

The plan would have been similarly adopted last Friday night, except for the fact that the method of selecting the Judges and clerks had not been definitely determined upon. The committee wrote the various candidates and asked them to get together and suggest one officer for each precinct. The candidates were given until last night to act and they falled to avail themselves of the offer. Some of them wrote that they had no aurgestions to offer, while others made no reply.

Only One Complaint.

Only One Complaint.

Only One Complaint.

Judge William Hodges Mann, one of the gubernatorial candidates, designated Mr. John Jackson to act for him, but as no other candidate compiled, the proposition falls to the ground. The question is again an open one, and it is hard to say what the committee wil do with reference to it. Some of the members think the offcers who acted in the last primary will be reappointed, while others contend they will not. The registrars will be named as one judge in each precinct, and perhaps one of the old officers will be taken at each, but there is a sentiment in the committee to have the third man taken from the outside.

May Get New Men.

May Get New Men.

May Get New Men.

Indeed, some of the members say the committee, in all probability, will to-morrow night select some well known business or professional man as an officer in each precinct, who will at once inspire the most widespread public confidence in the result of the primary. Still, the secondarian and no one knows inspire the most widespread public confidence in the result of the primary. Still, all this is speculation, and no one knows exactly what will be done until the committee acts.

"There has been no concerted action or understanding among the members regarding the method of selecting the officers for the primary." said one of the leaders of the body last night, "but I am sure all of us desire to do what will tend toward inspiring confidence among the public, and satisfying the voters, with the conduct of the primary.

"There are no factions in the committee, and the members are determined to see that everybody is given a square deal. The matter is being earnestly discussed among the voters, and the proposition to appoint a good business or professional man in each precinct seems to be a decidedly popular one.

A Wide Difference.

Adverting for a moment to the question of election officers, some people are saying that, inasmuch as the State plan provides for watchers for each candidate, there is no need for a division of the judges. Others, however, do not feel satisfied that a watcher could be of much service in case judges and clerks were disposed to act fruudulently in the conduct of the election, and they prefer, therefore, that the officers should have the fullest measure of public-confidence. Following is the section of the State plan relating to and providing for

Gentlemen: I feel it my duty to inform you of the wonderful benefit I have derived from the use of-"Babek."

For some time past my system has been infected with malaria, and I have been unable to get any permanent cure, after having tried several remedies, until I was advised to get a bottle of "Babek."

Knowing of the popularity of your preparation, and having heard of the marvelous cases of malaria, where permanent cure has resulted from the use of same, I decided to give "Babek" ta trial.

The result has been an absolute cure to me, and it affords me the greatest pleasure to recommend "Babek" to all who are suffering from that dreadful disease known as malaria, Yours very respectfully, "Dictated."

Question of Money.

It is believed the committee will put in outsiders of their own selection instead of calling for volunteers, as has been suggested in many instances by State Chairman Ellyson.

Another question which is giving the committee some concern is that of raising money, so as to relieve the candidates of at lenst a portion of the expense. The primary all over the State is in the committee some concern is that of raising the money in experiment business men here, but up to deal the treasurer has received only state.
